

Death of Mrs. Arvilla Roosa

Mrs. Arvilla Roosa, aged 63, passed away Saturday at 11 o'clock at her home southwest of the city. Sunday she suffered a stroke of paralysis and had been in a helpless condition since that time. The funeral was held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. from the home.

Arvilla M. Laubach was born in Fayette county, Ohio. She came to Michigan when young, and for the past forty years has resided on the farm on which she died. She leaves the following children: Andrew, Samuel, Ledrew, Benjamin and Estle, who reside at home, and Mrs. Cora Swift of Iowa and Mrs. Bertha Dewitt of Owosso.

The Stage of Depression.

The first stage of a cold is diminution in the size of the blood vessels, producing paleness, chilliness, shivers or rigors, with goose flesh, a disposition to put on extra clothing, to creep towards the fire, to take stimulants and hot drinks, this is the stage of depression.

The use of Dr. Humphreys' "Seventy-seven" at this stage, gives the best results, and is almost sure to break up the cold.

A small vial of pleasant pellets, fits the vest pocket, handy to carry, easy to take. 25c at all drug stores or mailed.

Humphreys' Homeo. Medicine Co., 156 William street, New York.

Death of Edward Sheldon.

Edward Sheldon, 78 years of age, for 39 years a resident of this county, and former highway commissioner of Shiawassee township, died Saturday at the home of his niece, Mrs. William Scrancon, one mile south of the Maple River church. Mr. Sheldon was stricken Monday evening with paralysis and never recovered consciousness.

The deceased was born at Waterford, Oakland county, and when he came to Shiawassee engaged in farming. As highway commissioner of Shiawassee township he built the first mile of state reward roads within its borders between Newburg and Bancroft.

Mr. Sheldon was highly esteemed as a man and was recognized as a faithful public servant while in office, and ever as a good citizen. His wife died 26 years ago, and two daughters preceded him in death. A brother, H. E. Sheldon, died two years ago, and Edward Sheldon was the last of this family.

The funeral was held from the home of his niece Monday afternoon.

BURTON FARMERS' CLUB

The Burton Farmers' Club met at the pleasant home of Mrs. Clara Aniler, Thursday, Nov. 2. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. E. B. Putnam. Mrs. Hammond then conducted devotional exercises and in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. W. J. Brookins read the report of the last meeting. We then adjourned for dinner.

After a fine dinner and social hour, a business meeting was held and the following officers elected for the coming year: President, Jerome Sherman; vice president, O. J. Snyder; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Albert Schultz; reporter, Mrs. Jerome Sherman; director, M. L. Peterson; delegate to state convention of farmers' clubs, Mrs. E. B. Putnam; alternate, Mrs. W. J. Brookins.

A fine program was carried out and we adjourned to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Vincent in December. Felicie Sherman, Reporter.

Wallace-Randell.

A wedding of interest to a large number of friends was that of Miss Cora A. Randell to Orrin Wallace on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Randell, in Burton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. S. Ostrander, pastor of the Burton M. P. church. The young people were attended by the groom's sister, Miss Fern Wallace, as bridesmaid, and Carl Randell, brother of the bride, as best man. Lohengrin's Bridal March was rendered beautifully by Miss Harriet Cadz, and during the felicitations she rendered selections. Little Miss Irene Smith carried the ring in a rose in a small basket.

Later a three-course wedding dinner was served. The young people left on a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home on a farm in Owosso township next month.

The bride came to Burton about five years ago from Reed City. The groom is the son of a prominent Burton farmer.

LIVE STOCK FAVOR ALFALFA

Not Generally Pastured for Reason Plant Does Not Thrive—No Serious Danger of Bloat.

Alfalfa makes excellent pasture for all kinds of live stock, but it is not generally pastured for the reason that it does not stand pasturing well if heavily pastured with cattle. Light pasturing, however, is not objectionable. There is no serious danger of bloat if the cattle are turned on gradually and in the middle of the day and after they are pretty well filled up on other pasture. A sudden change of feed is not well for hungry stock of any kind. You can pasture your alfalfa safely and get good results from it, but if we were anxious to keep the field in alfalfa continuously and get the greatest yields possible we would not pasture it.

SAYS HOGS ARE NOT FILTHY

No Farm Animal More Deserving of Care and Protection, Yet He Is Frequently Neglected.

(By PROF. K. T. J. EKBLAW, University of Illinois.)

Hog raising has probably returned proportionately greater profits to the corn belt farmer than any other enterprise. In view of this, it might naturally be expected that the hog be the best-housed animal on the farm. In the majority of cases, however, the opposite is true.

The old-fashioned idea that the hog is a tough, filthy animal still persists, and many farmers believe and act in the belief that anything is good enough for a hog. As an actual thing, there is no farm animal that needs care and protection more than the hog.

LAMBS FATTENED IN AUTUMN

Make Better and Cheaper Gains in Fall, Provided There is Plenty of Rape and Clover.

If the market warrants it lambs will make better and cheaper gains during the fall, provided there is plenty of rape and clover pasture, than they will during the winter.

If the fall markets are slow and the lambs unfinished it will no doubt pay to feed until the new year. This will cost from 3 to 5 cents a day according to the prices of feed in the local market. But due allowance must be made for the fertility returned to the land.

ATTENTION GIVEN TO SHEEP

Farmers Are Beginning to Realize Their Worth as Farm Animals

—Mutton in Demand.

Sheep raising is likely to receive more attention than it now receives because it seems that farmers are beginning to realize their worth as farm animals. Wool continues to bring fair prices and mutton will increase in demand as people learn to use more of it.
